Thinking Out Loud

H. M. L.

Does it ever occur to anybody to contrast what the people ask for in the way of leadership, and what they actually get. For instance we elected President Wilson to keep us out of the world war, and very shortly we were in it. We elected President Hoover to put two good cars in every garage and presently there was nothing in the garage but a dilapidated jalope, if that. We elected President Roosevelt to avoid a "domestic revolution," and now we are up to our ears in that. We change heroes but we do not change our destiny.

The Chinese developed a philosophy of resignation from which in these days of sit down strikes, the quarrel of Green and Lewis, and both of them against our industrial system, the personally conducted war of the President against the Supreme Court, and nearer at the hand the local foment and agitation, we may draw a modicum of comfort. The Chinese express this philosophy in these words: "In a thousand years we shall all be bald." In other words, why worry? Death makes us all communists, fascists, democrats or anarchists. The green earth revolves, time without end, about the sun, regardless of the battles of the red ants and black ants upon its surface.

We doubt not, however, that for thousands of years the battle for human liberty will continue. Even if, as many believe, the world is presently to plunge into the abyss of another dark age, history will repeat itself, and men will continue to sacrifice their lives for liberty. The governor of a great state, compromises with the law and the Bill of Rights. His proud boast is that he avoided bloodshed. But there are many things that are far worse than bloodshed and the ultimate sacrifice. For instance there was slavery in the Old South, the German destruction of European civilization, and further away in time, the impressment of American seamen in the British navy, and earlier than that, taxation without representation. For those things liberty loving people of the United States gladly sacrificed their lives. The struggle for human liberty is a continuing battle. Peace, comfort, soft living, lull the vigilance of the defenders, and slavery of one kind of another lays its snares for the peace loving. But the time may be near when they must take up arms again.

Expropriation of property without compensation to the owner, as it occurred in France over a hundred years ago, in Russia, only a few years ago, and in Mexico today, is an invasion of personal liberty. Whether this is done by dictatorial fiat, legislative act, or excessive taxation, makes little difference so far as results are concerned. First the very wealthy are brought low, next the moderately wealthy, third those who are "comfortably fixed," and last, anyone who owns an extra pair of trousers. Ultimately the governmental army of bureaucrats and parasites eats up the substance of an industrious people. The appetite of government, centralized, powerful, knows no limits. Once launched upon a vast bureaucatic expansion of power, every horse leech on the payroll industriously sucks the blood of the taxpayers. Witness Hopkins marshalling his nondescript WPA army to bear down on the President to continue in full blast the golden flood of taxpayers money.

BOY SLAYER IS COMMITTED TO WHITTIER SCHOOL

Thirteen-year-old Arnold Munchauser was arraigned this morning before Justice of the Peace Walter Mobley on charge of murdering Oscar Jacks, the crime for which his mother, Mrs. Alice Munchauser had been indicted by the grand jury a week ago.

This action follows the boys confession of the shooting, made last week to former sheriff, George Carter and Attorney H. Ward Sheldon, counsel for his mother, which was later confirmed by District Attorney Stoll and Sheriff Tobiassen.

Since the boy is a minor he was bound over for hearing before Judge Raglan Tuttle of the superior court. The hearing, a juvenile court proceeding took place this afternoon. The story told by the boy, briefly, is that Jacks on the fatal Sunday three weeks ago, returned to his home drunk, knocked down his common-law wife, Mrs. Munchauser, beat Arnold and his younger brother, and then went to the car below the cabin, to get his crank, or car jack, and while doing so, was shot by Arnold from the roof. The bullet passing through his heart killed Jacks instantly.

Following his examination in the superior court, Judge Raglan Tuttle committed the boy to Whittier school.

A. W. McGagin left this afternoon with the boy to take him to Whittier.

WEST MEXICO HIGHWAY BEGUN

Definite steps for improvement of the road from Nogales, Arizona, through the western states of Mexico to Guadalajara are assured as a result of the recent conference at Mazatlan, reports the California State Automobile Association. The road will provide an important link in the Internation Pacific Highway, envisioned as extending eventually from Fairbanks, Alaska, to Buenos Aires.

The Mazatlan conference of Mexican officials and good roads enthusiasts adopted a program of action presented by three California engineers who attended as invited representatives from this state. The three were E. E. East, chief engineer of the Automobile Club of Southern California; T. H. Dennis, maintenance engineer for the California Division of Highways; and Clark C. Cottrell, manager of the Highways Bureau of the Automobile Association.

The plan they presented calls for immediate intensive maintenance work on the Nogales-Guadalajara road, with rebuilding and relocation to follow in accordance with the demands of increasing travel.

Bonds guaranteed by gasoline tax revenues to be issued to finance the work. Governors of the states of Sonora, Sinaloa, Nayarit, and Jalisco, through which the road passes, pledged their states' shares of gasoline tax revenues to the road bonds.

CLUB OPPOSES SPEED TRAPS

"Ambushing" motorists as a means of catching speed law violators was denounced by the California State Automobile Association today in a statement opposing a proposed speed trap law sought by Ray Ingels, director of the Department of Motor Vehicles.

The association statement endorsed the views on speed traps expressed in a report by the Assembly Interim Committee on Motor Vehicle Legislation, quoting from the report as follows:

"The Director of the Department of Motor Vehicles has caused a bill to be introduced permitting the maintenance of speed traps, although it is proposed that the highways where any such devices are maintained shall be signposted advising the motoring public that speed is subject to control on such highways by speed traps.

"During many years California, as well as other states, employed speed traps until finally prohibited by law for two reasons:

"1. Maintenance of speed traps was not effective in reduction of traffic accidents.

"2. Such traps were generally maintained where conditions were least hazardous, where motorists operated at somewhat more than normal speed by reason of safe conditions.

"The system was fruitful only in filling the coffers of municipalities and counties with substantial fines and forfeitures.

"The proposal to reinstate speed traps indicates a lack of fundamental knowledge of the cause and circumstances of traffic accidents.

"It would seem appropriate that officers devote more attention to the reckless and hazardous operation of vehicles, such as avertaking and passing on the wrong side, upon the curves, or other places where view is obstructed, and to a more strict enforcement of the right of way rules at intersections."

ABATING CALIF. PRISON PROBLEM

BERKELEY, March 14.—California's overcrowded prison problem, a source of public concern for a decade or more, appears to be definitely easing off, according to an exhaustive survey made by the Bureau of Public Administration of the University of California at the request of a number of members of the State Legislature. The survey was made by Milton Chernin, research associate in the bureau, who states, however that no reasonable predictions can be made regarding future prison population trends.

"The most that can be said at present is that the problem of prison overcrowding is not so pressing as it was two years ago," Chernin said.

Tabulations in the survey show that the total population of California's two state prisons dropped from 9,318 in June, 1934, to 7,872 in December, 1936. Of this total the San Quentin count dropped from 5,954 to 4,665, while that of Folsom dropped from 2,861 to 2,816. There was a distinct increase in felony arrests in the state, however, in the same period, but both the number of felony charges and the number of felony convictions in the superior courts decreased. As a result of these two last factors, commitments to the state prisons dropped from 2,402 in the fiscal year 1933-34 to 1,861 in the fiscal year 1935-36. The table shows that about 30 per cent of those convicted of felonies are sent to state prisons. The remainder are put on probation, receive jail sentenres or are committed to juvenile institutions.

The survey also reviews the labor problem in California prisons and compares it with the situation elsewhere. Comparisons of prison administration in California and other states are also made and the more outstanding administrative systems are described in detail. The chief prison needs, the survey points out, are an adequate segregation program, more adequate road camp facilities, a more adequate work program generally, an institution for the criminally insane and feebleminded and prison farms for youthful first offenders. All of these needs have been pointed out by the State Board of Prison Directors, Chernin states, and indicate that California is over supplied with maximum security prison facilities such as San Quentin and Folsom, and under supplied with medium and minimum security type institutions, such as the Tehachapi women's prison, road camps and prison farms.

ADVENTURES OF PIONEER OF 1883 TOLD IN BOOK

BERKELEY, March 15.—An eyewitness account of pioneer life in the early west has been published recently by the University of California Press under the title of "The Life and Advetures of George Nidever."

Nidever was a member of a family that moved to Missouri when that state was still a part of the frontier. In 1830 he and a man named Sinclair poined a party of frontiersmen bound for the beaver streams of the Rockies. For the next two years they traveled the mountains and plains trapping, hunting and fighting Indians. In the spring of 1832 they were at Pierre's Hole, a famous trapper's rendezvous in Wyoming, when they were attacked by Blackfeet Indians. In the ensuing fight Sinclair, who had become the leader of the party, was killed. The next summer Nidever and a few others came to California across the plains.

Nidever soon became well known around Santa Barbara. He hunted grizzly bears and sea otter all along the coast and on the Channel Islands and became famous as a marksman. One of his outstanding exploits was his rescue of "The Lone Woman of San Nicolas Island," who had been marooned for eighteen years.

Nidever married Sinforosa Sanchez daughter of a California family, and became a property owner in Santa Barbara. He was involved in several of the periodic revolutions which made life exciting under the Mexican government and campaigned with Fremont when he put down the Mexican rebellion in the southern part of the state.

From 1860 until his death in 1883 Nidever lived quietly in Santa Barbara. He was interviewed there by Edward F. Murray, the assistant of Hubert Howe Bancroft. When the Bancroft Library became the property of the University of California the document passed with it. This manuscript was edited by William Henry Ellison and published by the University Press under the direction of Samuel T. Farquhar, manager.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Bolton, son Edward, and daughter, Alberta Bolton, of Nevada City and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Sinnock and son of Colfax spent Sunday in Angels Camp visiting Mr. Bolton's brother. F. O. Bolton.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Burnett of this city spent a pleasant two day visit in Sacramento with Mr. Burnett's parents returning home Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Garrison spent Saturday evening in Marysville where they attended the meeting of the C. S. E. A. Mr. Garrison is superintendent of this division of the Tahoe Ukiah highway.

A Case of Sour Grapes

Perhaps Mayor La Guardia ought not to have nominated Herr Hitler as exhibit No. 1 in a proposed "hall of horrors" at New York's 1939 world fair. There are a lot of other people the Mayor could have selected for the distinction without raising such an international hullabaloo.

But in the anguished official protest of the German government and the somewhat unofficial tongue-in-cheek "apology" of the U. S. State Department, it is again illustrated how utterly incompresensible democracy is to the dictators.

The Nazi high command expected the American government to take Mr. La Guardia to task and hush him up. America's reply was, simply, "Sorry, old man, but we have free speech over here, and the government is not responsible for what its citizens say."

In Germany it is different. All opinions voiced publicly there, are official Nazi opinions. Thus it was the German government speaking when "Der Angriff," the newspaper of Propaganda Minister Goebbels, criticized "the lame handling of the La Guardia case by the Washington Foreign Department." Since this is a democracy, the incident was not a "case" and there could be no "handling" of it.

Dictators are thin-skinned. Democracies can't be bothered to protest verbal "insults." Otherwise the United States right now would be protesting the assertion of "Der Angriff" that America is a place "where 125 million people have as their only freedom the freedom to perish by the roadside without a word."

Could it be that the German government, now bankrupt while knee-deep in tanks and machine guns, envies us our vast breadth, our wealth of resources and high standard of living.—Contributed.

"Aplets' is Apple Candy! Apple Candy is one that will satisfy the children's "sweet tooth" and yet not their "bread basket." It's a dainty confection too.

APLETS

Eight medium firm cooking apples or two cups unsweetened apple pulp. 1-2 cup cold water. Two cups white sugar. Two tablespoons unflavored gelatin. 1 cup chopped walnut meats. 1 tablespoons lemon juice. Powdered sugar.

Peel and core apples; grate and cook in sauce pan with 1-4 cup of cold water until tender; add white sugar, cook until thick, about 30 minutes, stirring occasionally to prevent burning. Soak gelatin in remaining 1-4 cup of cold water; add to apple mixture, stirring until dissolved. Cool slightly by placing pan in cold water for 15 to 20 minutes; add walnut meats and lemon juice; mix well. Pour into flat pan to 1-2 inch thickness. Place in refrigerator over night. Cut in squares and roll in powdered sugar. Note: Add 1 tablespoon cornstarch to each 1-2 cup sifted powdered sugar to prevent stickiness.

Just Wondering

I wonder why the gold we seek
Hides deep within the ground;
I'd like to see it up on top
In nuggets big and round;
And why are wisdom's priceless gems
So very hard to find?
And why is it so difficult
To cultivate the mind?

I wonder at the wisdom of Solomon Dulberry, in fact it fairly stuns me. You see he talks of things I can't seem to understand —cosmic rays, the fourth dimension, etc. If he would make a few remarks relative to stones, pay gravel or salted mines, I'd be able to emit a spark of conversational intelligence—a faint one perhaps, but still, a spark.

I wonder at the vast multitudes of expert statesmen now giving tongue in every town and hamlet of the land; inglorious they may be, but certainly not mute.

I wonder if California are lovers were not thrilled to learn that our own William Keith has been accorded his rightful place in the temple of fame. A choice collection of his masterpieces is to be displayed at the San Francisco fair, in 1939. Cubists, impressionists, ultra-modernists of many schools come, go and are forgotten; the sublime art of a William Keith lives on forever.

I wonder if cousin Miranda is an incurable optimist; she has been exposing her son Algy to higher education for almost four years, and it hasnt begun to show on him yet.

I wonder if the command, "thou shalt not bear false witness," is constitutional; if enforced would'nt it interfere with free speech and tend to curb airy flights of the imagination?

I wonder if New York's enterprising mayor would like a few of our detestable abbreviations for his chamber of horrors. Here they are Mr. Mayor, "Frisco, Los, Sac. and San Berdoo." Ten to one Chicago would be glad to donate her unforgiveable, "Chi.'

I wonder how Walter Winchell gathers inside information: all I ever hear while listening at key holes is a distant and confused murmur of voices, punctuated with overtones whose content is derogatory to eaves droppers.

—A. MERRIAM CONNER.

Depression and Dictatorship

By CLAYTON RAND

Of course, there will be another depression. The reason depressions follow booms is people can only stand so much prosperity before they go goofy again.

And ultimately America will have a dictatorship. The history of civilizations go their cycle from democracies, to dictators, to kings, to despots. Then the people cut off a despot's head and we have democracy again.

We have dictatorships for the same reason we have depressions. While the people can only stand so much prosperity they can only stand so much freedom before they run it in the ground.

America's greatest problem is to find the safe and happy medium between the wild world's mad extremes —between conservatism and radicalism—between boom and panic—dictatorship and freedom.

Personal

Mrs. C. R. Bennett of Big Tunnel is a Nevada City visitor today. She came out to the junction of the Washington road and the Tahoe-Ukiah from the camp on skiis and will make the return trip in the same way tomorrow. There are still several feet of snow on the ground at Big Tunnel.

Members of Ponemah Council, degree of Pocahontas of Nevada City, are preparing for a social time this evening a part of which will be spent in playing cards; dainty refreshments will also be served. Mrs. Elizabeth Lashbaugh is Pocahontas of the local council.

Verne Gleason, son of Mrs. Lydia Gleason of Nevada City, has accepted the position of junior statistician in the Welfare Department of the state of California. He went to work February 15 and is deeply interested in his new employment. His many friends in Nevada City and county wish for him every success.

Mrs. E. J. Darden, sister of Will Davis of Willow Valley, arrived on Tuesday to remain until after Easter visiting Mr. Davis and family.

Mr. and Mrs. William Tice have purchased the house, occupied by Miss Elinor Nelson on upper Boulder street, from Charles Williams, and are comfortably situated in their new home.

NEVADA COUNTY LUMBER CO. REBUILDS OFFICE

The Nevada County Lumber company have been remodeling their office on Boulder street. New concrete foundations, a storemoom beneath the office were the start of what turned out to be a general remodeling and modernizing.

The office now has a modern front with an overhanging markee. Inside the front door is the customer's space with a large counter for the salesmen to take orders. On the left is a room for displaying paint and on the right is a new room in which the builders hardware is displayed.

The rear office consists of a large room for the accounting department and alongside this the private office of the manager, Oscar Odegaarde.

All of the walls and ceilings of the room are finished in various wall boards and the doors and windows are of various types to show customers how these materials and millwork items work and look in actual use in the home.

This lumber yard is one of the oldest in the state to remain in one location. The present company purchased the yard from the original owners a few years aga and it is truly an organization that has grown up with and become an integral part of the business framework of the community and of Nevada county.

An average of about fourteen employees have been kept busy during the past two years and the management at present reports excellent prospects for continued building during the coming season.

JANE COWL IN FIRST LADY TO COME TO SACTO.

The announcement that the lovely Jane Cowl, is to appear in her latest New York comedy success, "First Lady,' has stirred up no end of interest among local theatre goers. The engagement will play March 27 in Sacramento. The place has not yet been decided upon.

Many things combine to make the visit of this celebrated star and her equally celebrated play, one of the outstanding events of the season. It was written by two of the most prom- time; Katherine Dayton, whose inent literary figures of the present sketches and satires on the doings of Mrs. Republican and Mrs. Democrat as published by a national weekly have won her international fame; and George S. Kaufman, the most consistently successful dramatist of the day. They have used their genius to the best advantage, so it is said, in their present collaboration, the result being two and one half hours of smiles, chuckles, nudges and laughter at the expense of the Washington politicians and social lights. While the impression will not down that the character played by Jane Cowl was suggested by Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, and that of her rival by Mrs. "Dolly" Gann, the authors vehemently deny these allegations.

"First Lady" was produced by Sam H. Harris, who has also given the stage such outstanding hits as "Of Thee I Sing," and "As Thousands Cheer,' and it ran all last season at the Music Box theatre. Mr. Harris is sending his hit on a coast-to-coast tour precisely as it was presented on Broadway.

Ahdenah Camp Fire Girls are to hold a meeting at the home of their Guardian Zoe Kazer on Clay street this evening. The members are showing enthusiasm in their work and making plans for a busy spring.

HERE'S THE NEWEST PLACE IN TOWN TO SEE THOSE NEW CARS THAT SET THE WHOLE TOWN TALKING!

YOU'RE going to like this new Buick sales and service center. It's an unusual concern. In fact, it had to be to qualify for a Buick franchise.

And that makes it perfect—because this unusually capable dealer-firm now has in its showroom an unusually capable line of cars—the wondrous new 1937 Buicks!

Here are the cars that are making auto editors, engineers, and stylists say, "IT'S BUICK AGAIN!"

Just consider such Buick features as the valve-in-head straight-eight engine—Aerobat carburetor—Unisteel Turret Top Body—Knee-Action—hydraulic brakes. These are a few of the big reasons why the new 1937 Buicks have already won such enthusiastic applause.

For the rest of this story, we refer you to the pleasant surprises you will experience when you drive a Buick yourself.

So step into this new Buick showroom and feast your eyes. And while you're there, take a look in back, too—at the fully equipped and up-to-date Service Department where expert service costs no more than the ordinary kind.

LOWEST PRICE EVER ON A BUICK 4-DOOR SEDAN!

Today's price for a Buick 4-door sedan is the lowest in all Buick history—and you get longer wheelbase—greater power—valve-in-head thrift—straight-eight smoothness—roomier body—safety glass all around—bigger luggage compartment—smarter styling—and immeasurably greater performance, comfort and style!
